

Cultural Attunement and Community Engagement in Action

Cultural competence is a common goal sought by health organizations and professionals as they work with individuals from cultures that differ from their own.

There is a desire to serve in culturally relevant and sensitive ways.

However, cultural attunement is a process, where we can embrace our “not knowing” and listen with an openness to learn and gain further insight.

You teach us,
We teach you.

We learn all together
and we can help the community.”

Marisol Vargas, PLN
Mexico City

This free session will introduce the Peer Leader Navigators (PLNs) who embody a group of individuals who are part of a multicultural, multilingual health education and outreach initiative supported through The Anchorage Health Literacy Collaborative.

Please join us and meet the PLNs who represent countries and languages from all over the world.
